

North York Victory Campaign Gets Away To Patriotic Start

Marching men and the unfurling of the Union Jack at the Water St. park, followed by the salutes of factory whistles, on Saturday evening, inaugurated the sixth Victory loan in Newmarket.

The military camp band, Flying Officer H. C. Westbrook's Air Cadets and No. 1 Initial Training School, R.C.A.F., Toronto, band paraded down Main St. to the park, and a detachment from B.T.C. 23 unfurled the flag.

"Fire us with a vision of a new world in which justice and right, and peace and brotherhood, shall reign, and help us to build it according to Thy plan," prayed Rev. G. H. Johnson of St. Paul's Anglican church.

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales presented to North York Chairman Aubrey Davis a replica of the Victory loan insignia presented by Finance Minister J. L. Halsey to Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, at Ottawa earlier in the day.

Dr. Dales paid tribute to the "great leadership and organizing success" of Mr. Davis in the fifth Victory loan, and the work of H. L. Trapp, organizer.

"I accept this shield, the replica of one presented at Ottawa today, fully appreciating the responsibility that goes with the acceptance of the same," said Mr. Davis. He announced that the replica will go as a prize to the municipality which shows the largest percentage sales over its objective in this loan campaign.

"Young or old, man or woman, all will put forth every effort to buy as many Victory bonds as they can," said Mr. Davis. "Draw on your earnings, draw on any resources you have, and support our boys at this, the most crucial hour of the war."

With an objective of $2,300,000, North York had purchased $259,600 by Wednesday night.

BE SURE TO GET YOUR TICKET WITH V-BOND

The "Victory Revue of 1944" plays at the Newmarket military camp drill hall next Thursday evening, May 4.

The tickets are available to all purchasers of Victory bonds, regardless of where they live. All they have to do is to present their certificates at one of the Newmarket stores distributing the tickets, and they will receive one ticket for each bond purchase certificate.

With the campaign warming up, it is thought quite possible that the tickets will be exhausted early next week. The total number of seats available is 1,500, but the number of Victory bond purchasers in Newmarket, Aurora and district will be two or three times that figure.

Chairman H. E. Lambert said this week: "First come, first served." Tickets are available from the Newmarket bond salesmen or from Morrison's, Gilroy's or Best's stores.

The Lions club is also selling tickets on some of the new $50 Victory bonds, the number to be determined by the number of tickets sold, and the balance of money to be used for cigarettes for overseas soldiers.

ERIC CARTER MEETS NEWMARKET ABROAD

"You gentlemen who have been through this in other days know how welcome parcels from Canada are and how nice it is to know that the folks back home are thinking of you," writes Cpl. Eric M. Carter in a letter of appreciation to the Newmarket Veterans Soldiers Comforts fund. "I have run across quite a number of boys from town in my travels and we all wish we were back again on the old Main St."

PROVIDE DEMONSTRATION OF ART FOR O.E.A.

Miss Annie King of the Newmarket high school staff received a letter this week from the Association of Art Teachers of Ontario thanking the N.H.S. grade 9B art class for its demonstration at the recent O.E.A. convention.

Robert Budd and Alvin Doner went to Toronto with Miss King during Easter week to help with the demonstration. A number of other boys helped to prepare the exhibit.

Interviewer: "What have you to say about anonymous letters?" Professor: "They're stupid; I read them but I never answer them."

IS NO. 1 BUYER

First Victory bond buyer in St. Andrew's ward was 16-year-old Neilson McCaffrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McCaffrey. A pupil at St. John's separate school, he withdrew $50 from his savings bank account and turned it into a Victory bond.

Says England Shares St. George With Others

The beautiful red and white flag of St. George flew from the tower of St. Paul's church on Sunday in celebration of St. George's day.

Psalm, lessons and hymns all marked the occasion, while the rector, Rev. G. H. Johnson, gave a stirring address in honor of England's patron saint. He took for his text, "Thou has given a banner to them that fear Thee that it may be displayed because of the truth."

"We cannot lay claim entirely to St. George and his banner, for Greece, Poland and Portugal and other countries claim St. George as patron saint," said Mr. Johnson.

St. George and his banner stand for us in human form as a symbol of the things for which our empire has stood for so long."

He ended his address by quoting from Rudyard Kipling, "We pledge to thee, O Mother Land, now and in the years ahead, head, heart and hand."

N.H.S. PUPILS UNDERGO T.B. TEST - M.O.H.

By DR. J. H. WESLEY, M.O.H.

The recent decision of the town council to ask the board of health to take steps for the employment of a full-time health nurse for all the town schools came as quite a surprise, and no doubt the news will be received with a mixture of approval and disapproval by the ratepayers.

There is still a hope that new legislation will be brought down by which grants of money will be made towards the payment of health nurses thereby relieving the property owners of the increased taxes the employment of a health nurse will mean.

About five years ago your present M.O.H. tried without success to get the board of health and the town fathers interested in a county organization whereby all the local boards of health would be disbanded, the county divided into districts, and all matters of public health controlled by sufficient medical health officers and public health nurses, who would be graduates from a university and holding a diploma in hygiene.

At the last session of the legislative assembly there was passed the Municipal Health Services Act, by which any municipality or any number of municipalities may pass by-laws authorizing the entering into an agreement providing for health services to the inhabitants of the municipalities, subject to the approval of the minister of health of Ontario.

There is also before the federal house the framework of a state insurance bill that will be effective for all the provinces. The terms of this bill are very extensive and it has already gone through many amendments which, if ever put into effect, will involve the state in a fabulous amount of money.

The provincial proposition can be tried out over a three-year period by any number of municipalities on a smaller scale, yet having regard to the social and economic problems in the health and welfare of the people.

We have in North York the immediate essential for a trial of the "Municipal Health Services Act." The first essential is a well-organized hospital, the nucleus about which may be gathered as many municipalities of the county as should be determined by vote at the municipal election.

The dominion of Canada is a large country, consisting of so many provinces with such wide-spread, varied interests and ideas on such a huge proposition, that it seems a smaller, more localized beginning would be a better means to federal social security.

Under advisement of the division of tuberculosis prevention of the Ontario department of health, arrangements have been made to do a T.B. skin test on the pupils of the Newmarket high school, subject to the consent of the parents or guardians, and to be done at the commencement of the fall term.

It is not the policy of the department to recommend or encourage the tuberculosis survey of groups of pupils under 14 years of age because very few before this age have developed the disease in a form that is dangerous to themselves or others. However, where there is a family infected with T.B. or having a history of tuberculosis, it may be necessary to make a thorough examination of the whole family to trace the source of the infection. Even the skin testing of secondary school pupils in the last few years has shown less than one quarter of one percent of cases of active tuberculosis. Accordingly, if a student or pupil has been found to have active tuberculosis, it will be necessary to go through all the contacts of the family or the school-room, both old and young, and have all positive reactors x-rayed.

Skin testing as a diagnostic means for tuberculosis is useless without a follow-up check of the positive reactors with an x-ray of the chest. A positive skin test does not mean that the person has been infected with the disease, but that such a one at some time in his life has taken some of the germs into his body. It has been frequently said that T.B. germs might be found in every body. They have been found in the sweaters of a pullman sleeper. The advantage of a negative test is that it rules out tuberculosis—that is, with very few exceptions. The earliest hint of tuberculosis is a positive skin test and the first and surest sign of the disease is the x-ray of the chest.

At the time of the first great war the physical examination of the chest was considered superior to the x-ray in demonstrating the earliest signs of the disease, but new and improved x-ray equipment, in the hands of medical specialists, has shown that the disease can be diagnosed with the x-ray long before any other means.

It is just as important that the school teacher be proven tuberculosis-free as the hospital nurse. The department of radiology at the York County hospital will be prepared to take care of all reactors immediately after the testing at the school and the charges will be according to the rates suggested by the department of health. The tuberculosis is furnished free by the department. It contains no germs and can do no harm. A small drop is injected into the superficial layers of the skin of the forearm and is examined in 48 hours for a reaction.

INSTITUTE FOR BLIND APPEALS TO PUBLIC

"Twenty-five years ago there were less than a hundred blind people making a living in Canada, but now there are over 1,200 blind men and women regularly employed and hundreds of others who earn substantial sums each year by working at home," Mrs. J. E. Morris, chairman of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, said in a statement in parliament regarding mail to and from the armed forces.

"Knowing how important the receipt of mail is from a standpoint of morale, I can assure you that, despite delays which have occurred, advantage has been, and will be taken, of every means at our disposal to improve the service," said Mr. Mulock.

"That there have been delays there is no doubt, but not delays which could be avoided. The time taken, which to anxious relatives and friends may seem unreasonable, is due to three more or less unavoidable causes: (1) The lack of transport, both air and surface, on account of the imperative and incessant requirements for vital operations.

"(2) Adverse transatlantic weather usually prevalent in the winter months.

"(3) The necessary movement of personnel from unit to unit and location to location to meet the exigencies of active operations.

"Last fall there were indications that shipping space for the transportation of mails overseas was becoming more difficult to obtain as some of the larger ships which had been used were being moved from the Canadian route for other purposes.

"We had counted on being able to overtake this difficulty (Page 5, Col. 1)

LESSON IN FARMING

"Oh, what a strange looking cow," exclaimed the sweet young thing. "But why hasn't she any horns?" "Well, you see," explained the farmer, "some cows are born without horns and never had any and others shed theirs and some we dehorn and some breeds ain't supposed to have horns at all. There's a lot of reasons why some cows ain't got horns, but the reason why that cow ain't got horns is because she ain't a cow—she's a horse."

ENCOURAGE STUDENT LABOR, ASKS MRS. LEE

The work of the Ontario Farm Service Force was the subject of an address by Mrs. Lorne Lee of Aurora at the Newmarket Home and School Association meeting on Tuesday evening at the King George school.

Mrs. Harry Bell, president, conducted the meeting, which was well attended. A number of songs by pupils from Miss A. Graham's room and Miss Hazel Hamblin's room, at the King George school, were enjoyed. Mrs. M. B. Seldon directed the singing.

Audrey Hunt, Newmarket high school oratorical contest winner, gave a delightful talk on farm life, stating that 90 to 100 students from Newmarket high school had helped on farms last year. She described the interesting life on the farm and made a plea that student farm labor should be encouraged.

"The Canadian farmer of today should be a highly respected individual, as he is an important cog in the war machine," she said.

Miss Hunt ridiculed the idea that students sought work on the farms in order to escape the June examinations, stating that leaving school early meant 13 weeks of manual labor on the farm if the student is credited with his year's work at school.

Mrs. H. E. Gilroy introduced Mrs. Lee, who has for two summers supervised an Ontario Farm Service Force camp for girls in the Niagara fruit belt.

"Canada has never produced enough fruits and vegetables to provide an adequate diet for our people," Mrs. Lee said.

"Now food is also needed to help our allies and the armed forces. The Ontario Farm Service Force is operated under a dominion-provincial committee and is carried on under the Ontario department of agriculture, in co-operation with the department of education and the department of labor, which supervises working hours, etc.

"For the last three years about 5,000 boys and girls have gone out to help the farmers under this plan. Altogether almost 100,000 people have gone out in that time, including a number of business men and women, who have helped during their holidays.

"A school children's brigade of younger children from 12 to 15 have been allowed to work on selected farms. To go to a Farm Service Force camp a boy or girl must be 16. This year it is expected that another 5,000 or 6,000 boys and girls will be needed.

"Growers expect that the crop of fruit will be huge. A bumper crop of peaches is expected. Help will be particularly needed for the first two or three weeks in September," Mrs. Lee urged that, if students undertook to help, they stay on as long as they are needed in September.

In the past it had been difficult because of the indecisiveness of education about the date of school opening, she said.

Mrs. G. E. Case thanked the two speakers and those who had provided the evening's music.

A resolution commending the mayor and members of Newmarket town council for their recent action in providing funds for the employment of a public health nurse, and promising co-operation of the Home and School Association, was moved by Mrs. Herman Bennett and seconded by Mrs. W. M. Cockburn.

Mrs. M. B. Seldon announced that there were 81 paid-up members of the Home and School Association and stated that in May that organization would be raising funds for the Navy League of Canada.

Tells Canada's Plans For Return To Civilian Life

The work of M.D. 2 district depot, Toronto, was described by Major J. C. R. Edwards, senior medical officer, at Newmarket Lions club in St. Paul's hall on Monday evening. R. C. Morrison introduced Major Edwards.

"When a man is discharged for health reasons it is no fault of his own," said Major Edwards, stating that the medical discharges through No. 2 district depot "have been the equivalent of almost a battalion a month."

Major Edwards said that discharges included many discharged on the ground of "instability." This meant that the man did not fit into the army successfully, although often these same men were more than ordinarily successful in civilian life.

Major Edwards introduced W. F. Daniels of the veterans' welfare division of the department of pensions and national health and asked him to tell something about soldier rehabilitation.

"We spend 15 or 20 minutes with each individual discharged soldier, finding out what he wants to do in civilian life and what help he may need," said Mr. Daniels. "If he is not returning to a job he held before enlisting we try to find suitable employment for him."

"A man is entitled to up to 12 months vocational training, according to the length of his service," said Mr. Daniels. "A single man is paid $10.20 a week while he is taking this training. This will be increased shortly. A married man gets $14.40 while he is going to school, and the same benefits for his children that he had in the army."

"A man who was in university, or who has senior matriculation, is entitled to the number of months in university that he spent in the army and may receive more than that."

"A man with 12 months service is entitled to 12 months free medical benefits. If he is married his wife gets army allowances while he is ill."

"A man who has worked on a farm for two years and has had 12 months in the army can get a loan of 90 percent of an amount up to $4,800 to buy a farm. He must pay down ten percent of the total cost of land and buildings. He can also borrow $1,200 for stock and equipment. He undertakes to pay over a period of not more than 25 years two-thirds of the cost of the land and buildings, that is, $3,200 of the $4,800, at three and a half percent interest."

"If he is successful the rest of the debt is wiped off."

"A chap who has a farm but sold his stock is entitled to benefits until such time as his farm is producing."

"A veteran with 12 months in the army who wants to buy one to four acres near a town where he would have seasonal employment can borrow $3,800. He has to pay ten percent down. He pays three and a half percent interest for 25 years on $2,400, and $600, if he is successful, is wiped off."

"The clothing allowance has been raised from $35 to $65. That is a question that your rehabilitation committee can take hold of. These rehabilitation committees are bringing pressure to bear on the government."

Mr. Daniels said that 75 percent of boys who before the war were unemployed plan to stay in Toronto, but that an effort is made to get them to return to their own towns.

"Communities welcome the soldiers back but after 30 days there is a tendency to forget them," said Mr. Daniels, asking for a sustained interest in the welfare of the new veterans. He also stated that the pensions advocate would take up the case of any soldier who might be entitled to a pension. The soldier should get in touch with the pensions advocate, even if a first application has been refused.

HASTEN THE VICTORY!

Victory "comes dripping slow." If it seems slow to us Canadian stay-at-homes, how much slower it must seem to Canadian soldiers who went overseas two, three and four years ago. How much slower it must seem to boys who went overseas only a few months ago but through the fortunes of war are already veterans of the Italian campaign—boys who face shells, bullets, bayonets! How much slower it must seem to the hard-pressed and often homeless civilians of Britain, France, Italy and conquered countries! How even Germans must long for the inevitable Allied victory!

At any rate, those of us who live on this continent—excepting the families who have temporarily or permanently lost members—know nothing about this war. We haven't any conception of the suffering, the sorrow, the horrors. That is evident from our complaints about sugar rationing, our disregard of gasoline rationing, our groaning about extra hours of work, our small gifts to war funds.

Now it is sixth Victory loan time, and we are all joining in a great effort to make ourselves war conscious for a couple of weeks at least. Let us look at our savings accounts and see how much we can afford to transform into glittering Victory bonds. Let us look at our wages or other income and see how much we can pledge for the purchase of producing, fighting, peace-bringing Victory bonds.

THAT FARM HOME

Any "landlubber" who has worked on a farm will remember the amused expression with which the farmer took the pitchfork out of his hands and said: "Not that way, this way." On the farm there is a right way and a wrong way to perform each operation. The right way saves labor, and the farmer knows the right way almost instinctively.

That same efficiency expert, the farmer, however, is, when he goes into his house, just as big a "dub" as his town or city cousin trying to hitch a team. The "Farm Forum Summer Guide," Vol. 1, No. 1, tells Mr. Farmer a thing or two. Says this publication: "You might as easily run a marathon as prepare a dinner for the men in some farm houses. You go half a mile to bake an apple pie. A proper grouping of the various cupboards and equipment plus a convenient work space can make all the difference."

This fascinating little publication has something to say about the old and the modern farm house, something to say about bathrooms and summer kitchens, the importance of convenient table levels for efficient working, proper lighting, many hints on making what we have more convenient, livable and lovable, and lists useful pamphlets obtainable from the Ontario department of agriculture and the Ontario Agricultural College.

We cite one suggestion: "A back entrance opening into a fair-sized wash-room. Here there would be a wash-basin and towels, also hooks for clothing. Here the men would leave their smocks, mitts, caps and overalls. And they wouldn't be trying to wash at the kitchen sink while the potatoes are being drained!"

YOU KNOW WHERE HE STANDS

Only a little while ago Progressive-Conservatives were saying that Premier George Drew of Ontario had overcome the chief criticism made against him before he became premier, namely, that his interests were in federal matters. He has demonstrated a healthy interest in provincial affairs, but it is not to be thought that he is not still interested in federal matters.

This week he has made a strong pronouncement in favor of sending all draftees into the battle arenas. It is a view that he shares with many other Canadians. But there is no lack of soldiers for Canada's army, and surely volunteer soldiers are the better soldiers. In view of developments, we think that many persons who formerly advocated conscription for overseas will now agree that Canada's middle-of-the-road course, calling up men for service and letting them choose between home and overseas service, although born in expediency, has been wise and successful.

Mr. Bracken has criticized it, but we think that Mr. Bracken, departing from his usual statesmanship, was in that criticism trying to win support both from those who think that there should be no conscription at all and those who think that there should be conscription for overseas service. Col. Drew, however, leaves no doubt as to the group with which he stands, and we have to admire him for his forthrightness, even if we suspect him of man's favorite sin—trying to make everyone else "in his own image"—something only the Almighty should dare do.

Col. Drew is a soldier and an imperialist—therefore everybody else should be a soldier and an imperialist. In the schools he is going to discipline our children, force cadet training upon them, and see that they are imbued with "sound ideas." He is even going to teach religion. Perhaps he will have graduated into the federal arena before too many of these things come to pass. His critics are mistaken—Premier Drew is only too interested in provincial affairs.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

THE POLICE COURT

(Kirkland Lake Northern News)

At Timmins recently Magistrate S. Atkinson asked that care be exercised in publishing information covering juvenile court cases.

Magistrate Atkinson has always exercised the utmost care in protecting juveniles who may come before him and he has not, at any time, sought publicity in matters relating to juvenile court work.

Most newspapers do not care for police court news. As a general rule publication of police court news makes far more enemies than friends and newspapers value friendships just as much as does the businessman who has something to sell and who values the friendships of his customers.

In small towns the newspapermen live much closer to the people than does the newspaperman in the larger centres. From time to time he is faced with decisions that affect men and women with whom he comes into daily contact—and very often the decisions arrived at are not at all easy. But in most cases publication is made in the public interest but only after the case is heard in court and a decision rendered.

That is why police court items have always been a headache to the man at the news desk. If they are left out and they affect people well known throughout the town—and that happens at times—he leaves himself open to the charge he is playing favorites. If he puts them in then he is subjecting the punished accused to further penalties. The result usually is a decision to treat everyone on the same basis regardless of race, creed or condition.

But even that rule must, sometimes, be relaxed when it is found that publication may cause far-reaching damage—not to the accused for usually they warrant little consideration—but to the family, usually their sons and daughters in high school—those in places of trust who may suffer lasting damage because of the dereliction of some member of their family who may find themselves in court.

But sometimes it goes a bit against the grain, after such a relaxation of newspaper rules, to have to publish an item telling of the sending to prison of some man who has been convicted of stealing a few pairs of socks at somewhat less than a dollar's value, and then have to reflect on something left out, on compassionate or other grounds, where publication was more than justified. It usually results in the newsman deciding to publish all court items, regardless.

But there are some instances where rules are never relaxed. The Northern News does not publish items dealing with juveniles appearing in court. It does not publish stories involving domestic relations and has always felt that dirty family linen is best washed in private. Any hope of patching up disrupted family affairs usually vanishes once details appear in a newspaper. It is hard to down injured pride and the publication of family differences usually creates a breach that will not heal. The Northern News does not use the names of girls, other than those who are accused of definite crimes and are habitual offenders, who find themselves involved in police or other court cases, nor does the paper publish stories covering arrests unless such arrests are for major crimes. The Northern News does not give the criminal records of any accused either before or after they have been sentenced. It has always been the contention of the editors that once an accused has paid the penalty of his or her crimes the debt has been discharged.

NEWMARKET LADY, 86, HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY

There was a merry time at 34 Millard Ave., Newmarket, one day last week when Mrs. Earl Toole celebrated her 86th birthday. Friends, relatives and neighbors joined in helping to make it a memorable occasion.

Besides many gifts, Mrs. Toole was showered with cards, telegrams and flowers, coming from a grandson in the air force in British Columbia, relatives in Oshawa and friends in Sault Ste. Marie.

Mrs. Toole's four daughters, Mrs. Wm. Carson, King, Mrs. F. Widdifield, Pine Orchard, Mrs. W. Couch, Holt, and Mrs. Howard Pegg, Sharon, gave a tea-party for her, with a huge birthday cake, beautifully decorated. Mrs. Toole enjoyed every minute of her celebration, even singing several selections, accompanied by her granddaughter at the piano.

Many friends and neighbors, besides relatives, called to wish her many happy returns. Mrs. Toole is looking forward to her birthday party next year.

TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Era and Express: I received your letter of inquiry today regarding the degree of regularity of the reception of my copies of The Era and Express. The paper arrives here in groups of six or seven publications at a time. The reason for this, I believe, that newspapers, magazines, etc., are treated as third-class mail. Consequently when convoys take on their quota of mail, letters and parcels receive preference in the allotment of space, causing the newspapers to be held up until sufficient room is found for them. I feel that I have received practically all papers dispatched to me except those lost due to enemy action.

Your efforts to ensure that I am receiving my Era and Express are greatly appreciated. This is an opportunity for me to compliment you on a very good tion dug for the new extension to his packing house.

Monday is the last day for assessors to finish their work. The electric light company is straightening up its poles around town this week.

A procession of town fathers passed through St. George's ward on Saturday on a visit of inspection.

THE COMMON ROUND

By Isaac Hughes Colville

IN SPIKE OF THE ELEMENTS

Does Mother Nature have a special spite at women's gatherings? Does she want to imply that woman's place is in the home, or is she trying to foster in us, a determination to overcome obstacles and so fit us to meet whatever of danger or hardship which may be set us?

You cannot wonder that WE wonder, for the date for our bazaar had to be changed because of the wild day, and when our last, for the time being, Red Cross meeting came round, the winds blew from what seemed to us, north, south, east and west, and not content with this, they brought along, as their guests, rain and sleet, which did all the damage the gales couldn't manage.

But let it be known, there are dauntless spirits among women drivers, and we all felt this very strongly when Mrs. Preston came along and packed us into her car to take us to Mrs. Earl Toole's. HOW she drove was a mystery hidden from us non-drivers, for the windshield was ice coated, but we got there to find Mrs. Toole wondering if we would come, for one of the added pleasures of the day was the lack of telephone service. Trees had fallen on the wires and nobody could get anybody—if that's clear to you—I'm not sure that it is to me.

Mrs. Hill of Newmarket was to inspect our work that afternoon and when SHE appeared also, in spite of the rudeness of the raging elements, we felt like cheering and certainly like doing our best to satisfy Mrs. Toole and Mrs. Hill. So we made beds and linseed poultices and mustard plasters and exhibited our first aid kits.

When this ordeal was over, only it was made less an ordeal by Mrs. Hill's charming manner and excellent suggestions, we had a little ceremony. We had all felt that it was rather wonderful that Mrs. Toole, in the midst of her busy life, should take time to instruct us in the use of first aid and home nursing—and one proof of its usefulness was that a member took up bandaging one day and had to use that knowledge the next. Well, we had a little presentation to make to our instructor as a slight token of our appreciation. We had tried, without success, to get an invalid's tray with matching fittings. So hoping Mrs. Toole would be more fortunate, we presented her with the wherewithal and left her to do her own choosing. Your scribe read the little accompanying note and Mrs. Elmer Starr presented the gift.

Mrs. Toole, although taken by surprise, replied most suitably and then we all relaxed and drank tea and ate sandwiches and cake, which seemed to taste especially good on a day like that.

Before coming to us, Mrs. Hill had already visited Mrs. Frank Williams' class on the third concession. From Mrs. Hill we learned our duties and responsibilities as Red Cross work students and felt, after her inspiring words, that should the necessity arise, we would be prepared, in no matter how small a way, to do our bit.

I would like to add that a presentation was also made to Mrs. Frank Williams by HER pupils, as they felt, as we did, that to give so much time out of their busy lives, as Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Toole had done, deserved far more recognition than we could give, but at least it showed we all felt the same—deeply grateful and appreciative.

WHAT WE LIVE BY

Is there a word in the English language that has been used and abused—in prose, song and poem, as the word "spring"? I think there is magic in it that opens up people's minds and hearts and—yes—souls, and makes them believe in a beauty and love, here and hereafter, which sometimes seems strangely alien to our present everyday life.

We had two letters from Britain this week, and, in spite of living in a fortress so crammed with arms and ammunition that it must be like living on top of a volcano, both spoke of spring.

One letter was from an old friend, the wife of an Imperial instructor who helped train the 28th Ottawa regiment in Bermuda when we were there.

Mr. Roads, too old for active service, is now a fire warden and his wife tells me she is alone every night, and for the week before she wrote, their little town in Essex, on the sea coast, had been bombed every night. She says she gets under the table and hopes for the best.

In spite of this, she is planning her own garden and going to look after the next door, where her neighbors were bombed out of their home.

This woman is over seventy and small, but the spring means something to her besides hard work and danger, for she said, "I have flowers as well as vegetables, and they comfort me."

The other letter was from a young friend from our own neighborhood.

paper, the editorials of which I read with special interest, as they are invariably fair and keep me in the picture as to the political and social happenings in the home area.

Very sincerely yours, Sidney M. Fierheller.

Prisoners' Parcels Are Chosen Scientifically

(By Lemora Starr, Newmarket Red Cross)

There are 1,000 prisoners of war from the provinces of Ontario in enemy prison camps.

Following are the contents of a prisoner of war food parcel. Foods have been selected in proper proportions by Dr. Fred Tisdall, Toronto, a well-known authority on nutrition, and a committee of food experts: whole milk powder, butter, cheese, corned beef or other meat, pork luncheon meat, salmon, sardines or kippers, raisins, dried prunes, sugar, jam or marmalade, pilot biscuits, eating chocolate, salt and pepper, tea, soap.

The food furnished to the prisoners by the Germans and Italians includes vegetables such as turnips and cabbage and vegetable soup, and our parcels supplement this diet.

The Canadian Red Cross reckons it costs about $2.50 to "lay down" each weekly parcel of food in Geneva. This is becoming one of the chief items of Red Cross expenditure and the bill would be a great deal larger if the Red Cross had to pay for the packing of the parcels but these are all packed by women voluntary workers.

It would delay the shipment if tobacco and cigarettes were included with the food. Tobacco and cigarettes may be ordered from licensed firms and sent direct by mail by any individual or organization in Canada.

The British Red Cross regards Canadian prisoners as "British" and therefore the Canadians profit by the supplies of clothing, bedding, etc., sent in bulk to the camps by the British Red Cross. The British government, through the British Red Cross, also sends uniforms of their rank to British prisoners. Therefore uniforms should not be sent in "next-of-kin" parcels unless specially requested by the prisoner.

The same method is followed in the supply of drugs and medical comforts. The British Red Cross sends these articles in bulk to the medical officer of the camp for distribution to British prisoners. A prisoner is allowed to receive a parcel once a quarter by post from his next-of-kin and these parcels must be personally addressed to the prisoner with his name, rank, name of prison and prison number. These parcels may contain under wear, shoes, toilet articles, and certain books are sent free of charge by the post office. Enquire at the post office regarding this.

MOUNT PLEASANT

The rain of Sunday was much welcomed by the farmers, who are waiting for the grass to grow as feed for their stock is getting low.

Mrs. Harry Davis and son, Neil, Toronto, spent part of last week visiting Mrs. Davis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Davidson.

Mrs. Eva Stiles, who has been visiting in Toronto for the last two weeks, returned home on Saturday.

Mrs. Wm. Moulds is ill. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Moulds and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Wright attended the ordination services of Rev. Mr. McCullough on Thursday evening in Toronto. Mr. McCullough was a former minister at Mount Pleasant.

Quite a number from here attended a shower last Thursday evening in the Belhaven hall in honor of the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. J. McClure.

The young people's meeting will be held at the home of Wm. Moulds on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

STOP IT

The man at the theatre was annoyed by the conversation in the row behind.

"Excuse me," he said, "but we can't hear a word."

"Oh," replied the talkative one, "and is it any business of yours what I'm telling my wife?"

BRAY CHICKS

"the best I ever had"

That's what many buyers of Bray Chicks write the Bray Hatcheries every season. Here's part of a letter from George Rossow, Pembroke, Ont., for instance:

"I must say that Bray Chicks are the best I have ever had. They have lots of pep and vigor."

From Florence, N.S., Ben C. Ross writes to tell us:

"The birds I got from you last year were the best that ever came down here. I never lost one of them, and what layers!"

Robert Wade, Sussex Corner, N.B., tells the same story. He writes:

"We had 210 White Leghorns of your stock last year. They are great layers."

Would a flock of the kind that makes people sit down and write letters like that fill the bill for you? We believe they would!

TWENTY-THREE LAST WEEK

"D" squadron's curtain raiser was the cause of many favorable comments after last Tuesday's effort. I hear that Capt. George was wondering if he was going to be out of a job after the smoke had cleared away. The same might apply to Lieut. Bob Kennedy who was the announcer and M.C. of the show and responsible for many of the lines of the script. But up till now they are still carrying on and have suffered no black eyes up to the time of going to print. When the boys hit they hit everybody. Anyway, their ribbing was fun.

Action began with the drill squad. The drill master, Sgt. Exelby, did a fine job. But we are still wondering where those lads got their dancing steps and high faluting "standing at ease" and "about turns." We had no idea that was the way the army taught it now. For this excellent demonstration we have to thank Cpls. Davies, McLellan, Pullan, Life and Eldridge.

After the dance, we're sorry, boys, drill! Lieut. Ken. Joslin entertained us with a couple of songs that were well received. Then followed a skit based on the old theme of taking the wrong kit bag at the right time. Lieut. Gibb, subbing for Major Adams, met a pretty little G.W.A.C. in the person of Pte. Audrey Russell. Of course, the "major" had to look after her kit bag and necessarily had to let her take the wrong one. Disastrous results followed. Friend wife (L-Cpl. Ivy Jubb) inspected his bag and found not "laundry but lingerie."

A song by Tpr. Denardis followed. He was accompanied by Tpr. Yateaman on the guitar. The crowd wanted more of this.

Next we had an "Epistle of St. George to the Draft." This touching reading was made by Capt. Yateaman, who looked more like a padre than a padre does. Perhaps it is his well-timed appearance that does it. The "Epistle" was clever and had some pointed exhortations to the new soldier.

Tpr. Yateaman and Williams with guitar and song put on some popular numbers with the crowd, especially the parody on the C.A.C. The high-light of the evening's curtain raiser was the card party held in the home of Mrs. Busby. Truth to tell there was not much scandal or talk or gossip around camp that this group had not heard about, and woman-like they refrained from keeping it to themselves.

The personnel for this hen party were Cpl. Eldridge (Mrs. Busby), Cpl. Davies (Mrs. Newby), Cpl. Doherty (Mrs. Goode) and Cpl. Life (Mrs. Gossip). The men were well costumed for their parts and played in character well. For the sake of this act we noticed that Cpl. Davies had sacrificed his cook's duster underneath his nose. He looked positively naked in the drill number without it. He has already started to grow another.

As a final number, and it looked very much like the end, the fire picket squad under the leadership of Cpl. Perkins began to clean the drill hall up. It was the cue to tell us that the curtain-raiser was all over.

The show to follow, the John Ingle Review, had some good stuff, but we feel that the audience was not as responsive as the players would have liked. We think they have already been told that "smut" is not acceptable to a mixed audience. But we do appreciate their coming and giving their time and energy to entertain us, and many of their numbers were heartily applauded. With fewer encore, and the numbers following on more quickly upon one another, and a minimum of M.C. patter to introduce them, we believe that they will have a show that will go over big.

Another batman is a proud father. Willie Auchterlonie, from the land of the heather, gets an increase of $12 a month in allowance dating from Sunday, April 10, because a nine-pound baby girl came along to grace his home. We have been told that he has already started to look for a drum so that she may learn the art of the percussion instruments, but the mother feels at present that baby can make enough noise without the drum.

The camp Victory bond blood-hound is out on the prowl once more. Lieut. Freddie White, who can detect a bond sale a mile off, is giving this present campaign his usual enthusiasm and is firing all with his zeal. In a draw four victory bonds were won by men in the camp on Monday.

There is a great hope that the quota, though much "upped" from last year, will be met and some.

Boxing night was a great success on Thursday. Brampton boxers came up to the camp and were suitably entertained and challenged for the right to go to Toronto for the district finals. Newmarket won 3-2 on the events.

In the final bantamweight, 118 lbs. and under, Tpr. Walsh of Brampton knocked out Tpr. Lush of this camp in the second round, but not before Lush had put in some hard blows. A bad nose bleed and a body blow finished the bout.

The final featherweight (126 lbs.) was a walk-over for Newmarket's Tpr. W. Winters, there being no opposition brought down against him. Winters should give a good account of himself at Toronto. He was born 22 years ago in the city of Brantford where he got his schooling. He plays basketball, rugby, hockey and football. He became interested in boxing in this camp. He was 13 months on overseas duty in Labrador and came back to Canada in July, 1943. Has been in St. John, N.B., and Windsor, N.S., till he came to this camp recently.

The final lightweight (135 lbs.) went to Tpr. Rosenthal, who defeated Tpr. Gorman of Brampton by a knock-out blow in the second round. Rosenthal showed definite superiority in the first round, though not many blows were struck. Very soon in the second round the end came.

Tpr. Rosenthal, who was born in Rumania, came to Canada at an early age. He joined the army two years ago and was stationed at Halifax in the artillery for 20 months. He takes part in all sports. He is fairly tall and is well built. By profession he is a commercial artist and makes art in all forms his hobby. He does wood carving, drawing, painting, etc. He became interested in boxing in Halifax.

Tpr. Gore of Newmarket won the judges' decision in the next bout, the final welterweight (147 lbs.). The first round looked to belong to Antonia of Brampton, the second round was about even, although Antonia was knocked out or pushed out of the ring during this round. Both showed signs of tiring. The third round appeared to be Gore, who is 18 years old, hails from Montreal. He became interested in boxing in this camp. He is trained by Cpl. Mendelson. He joined the army in February of this year. He is interested in all sports, particularly swimming, golf, baseball and hockey.

Next, in the final middleweight (160 lbs.) Tpr. A. T. Hiltchie gave a T.K.O. to Tpr. Jeffreys of Brampton in the third round. The first round went definitely to Hiltchie, who got in some telling blows on his opponent. Jeffreys showed signs of being quite tired in the second round while Hiltchie seemed as fresh as a daisy. But Jeffreys was game and held on so that the fight lasted till the third round, when the fight was stopped in favor of Hiltchie.

Hiltchie comes to us from Waverly, Halifax county, N.S. He saw the light of day some 18 years ago. He joined the army in March, 1944, coming to this camp on the 15th. His interest in boxing began in this camp, being picked for special instruction by our enthusiastic L-Cpl. Mendelson, who feels that there is a bright future in boxing for this young inexperienced lad.

In the final heavyweight (175 lbs.) Tpr. Walker upheld the colors of Newmarket and triumphed over Tpr. Miller of Brampton by a decision vote. In the first round, Walker went in quickly and got in some good blows. The first round looked like his without a doubt. But the second round looked like Miller's. There was too much standing around by both of them. In the third round both went easily into clinches, though Walker got in a few blows.

F. J. Walker is aged 22 and owns up to Bristol, England, being his birthplace. However, since he was two, Canada and more particularly North Hamilton, has been the place he calls home. He is interested in hockey, baseball, soccer, skiing and swimming. He began his boxing career in this camp. He arrived at the camp in March of this year.

Tpr. Teabeau with Tpr. Gilbert of Brampton put on the first of three exhibition bouts. They boxed at 124 and 121 lbs. respectively. Gilbert had the knack of dancing and forward and backward head and body moves, which avoided many a blow Teabeau shot at him. Teabeau was taller than his opponent but Gilbert was game, and covered up well. The decision was given to Newmarket. Teabeau is aged 23 and was born in Toronto. He says he learned his boxing art the hard way, street fighting.

In the second exhibition bout Tpr. Wichmann at 145 lbs. fought Digweed of Brampton, and came off second best. From where we were it looked like Digweed won all three rounds, but Wichmann was no slouch.

A bout in the exhibition numbers which was rather in the comedy style took place between Grant and Trousseau, both of Brampton. Tit for tat was the order of their fighting. Neither intended to hurt the other, although in the second round Trousseau made the remark, "Are they room-mates, or something?"

In the open championships Trousseau of Brampton got a walk-over in the final light heavyweight (175 lbs.).

In the final middleweight class (160 lbs.) Tpr. Fortune of Brampton won the decision over Tpr. de Luca. Youth was on the side of Fortune but might have been different if Fortune had met him 18 years ago when de Luca was his age. As we saw the fight it looked as though the first round went to de Luca. Fortune rocked a bit that round. The next two rounds went to Fortune, who had greater stamina and was in better physical condition. De Luca was born in Montreal and started to box under the instruction of his father at the early age of five. He won the golden gloves in New York in 1933, fighting Entfield and Thompson. In those days he weighed 135 lbs. He has not fought since the New York events 11 years ago. He now weighs 150 lbs.

Tpr. Wichan gained a walk-over

In the final welterweight, He is aged 30 and was born in Gravenhurst. He joined the army in December of last year. He fought seven or eight bouts in Gravenhurst seven years ago. Since then he took up the gloves again for the first time in this camp. He plays hockey, baseball and softball. He runs a taxi business of his own in Gravenhurst.

The next bout was a triumph for Ginsberg, who hails from Poland, but came to Montreal when he was five years old. He was seen in street fighting by Bill Zed of the University Settlement, who suggested that he enter the golden gloves competition. He won two of these bouts but lost the final. This was in 1941. He did not fight again till he joined the army and came to this camp.

Ginsberg's Thursday opponent was Tpr. Scott of Brampton. The latter was smaller in build with shorter reach but knew how to use the arms he had. It would seem that all three rounds went to Ginsberg, but in the second round there were quite a few mutual blows given and received. Each watched the other closely and maintained a fair distance.

In the final featherweight (126 lbs.) Tpr. Gilbert of Brampton got a walk-over. The officials for the evening were Capt. Rigglesworth, referee, Sgt. Casement, timekeeper, Sgt.-Major Johnston, M.C., and Lieut. Pat Corrigan, Lieut. Jack Morris and Major Clarkson, judges. The bouts were well run. At the close Col. Young spoke a few words in appreciation of boxing and then Mr. Lambert presented each contestant with crests for their sweaters to show their successes of the evening.

As a postscript to this account of Thursday's boxing we are able to report one evening of boxing at Toronto on Monday. We are sorry to say that Ginsberg, Rosenthal, Hiltchie and Gore lost their fights. Ginsberg, who had to lose five pounds to get his weight down for the bout of the evening, suffered from that most likely, and also from nervousness. But he put up a grand fight against Brandino and went for the full time.

Perhaps we are prejudiced about the Rosenthal fight but we had given him, and many another in the crowd had done the same, the decision before we heard the result. The judges disagreed and the referee gave the decision to the other man. It was as close as that, so that should be some comfort to Rosenthal, who put up a game fight. Gore fought well but was outclassed by his opponent, but the match went the full three rounds. Hiltchie stood up well but did not seem to be able to get started. We hope he'll keep at it. He has real promise in this field of sport if he keeps on keeping on.

ADDRESSES ON THE MOVE...

WHEN a man is wounded in action or seriously ill, he is rushed through field and base hospitals with all possible speed, to the place where most effective treatment can be given. Because of this rapid movement, his mail may not "catch up" for some time, yet, if ever he longed for a letter from home, it is at such a time.

To offset possible delays, a new "Short-Cut" mail service has been put into effect. A Priority Casualty Card is filled in and rushed by Air Mail to his friends or relatives with instructions to add the words "In Hospital" to the unit address they usually use.

Letters mailed from Canada bearing the words "In Hospital" are routed direct to the records office in the United Kingdom or the Central Mediterranean Force, as the case may be. They are given preference in transport, whether sent by Air Mail or regular mail. Thus they will reach the addressee faster than ever before.

It is inevitable that in tracing men who have been moved, or wounded, some delays occur. But you can rest assured everything that can mean speedier deliveries of letters to your men is being well and thoroughly done—and will be done.

When you get a Priority Casualty Card be sure the words "In Hospital" are added to the regular unit address when writing overseas.

CANADIAN ARMY RECORDS OFFICE
HON. W. P. MULLOCK, K.C., M.P., POSTMASTER GENERAL

DOWN THE CENTRE

Armored corps athletics this summer (and that includes the lads at Newmarket and Orillia camps if plans materialize) will see leagues in football, soccer, basketball and perhaps lacrosse. That will be good news for Newmarket and district sports fans.

Just how such a set-up will affect the proposed teams at Newmarket camp is not as yet known. From all we can gather the camp will confine football to army competition and will not be represented in the Davisville league. Unless player material is soon available, chances of the boys from No. 23 playing in the Canadian Congress league as suggested to us by Commissioner Lloyd Douglas, top-ranking sand-lot executive, would appear remote. Soccer officials in Toronto appear confident that the Redmen will again play in the Toronto and district senior circuit and this would appear quite likely. It should not be too difficult securing enough players for a team in the T. & D. and C.A.C. leagues.

Brampton camp as yet cannot definitely be included in any army league, for rumor has it that No. 24 R.T.C. will shortly be changed from a basic training centre for reinforcements to a rehabilitation centre. That would probably mean a big change in the athletic scene at Rosetown. No lacrosse team has been entered though the Bulls were finalists in the O.A.L.A. last year, and likewise no Congress baseball team has been readied for action despite the fact Brampton won the intermediate A championship in 1943. We met Capt. "Bing" Caswell last week, and when "Bing" is unable to tell you what the season's sports set-up is it must be a bit uncertain. Many of the hockey team, being category, will perhaps stay on at the proposed new centre but there will be a great scramble to obtain some of the boys for other centres.

Personality week is what we perhaps might term last week, for we really met a lot of fellows who have been prominent in the world of sport and had quite a chin-wag in most cases. Besides Caswell we talked to fellows like Jerry Thompson, coach of Trail juniors, Flying Officer Lou Hayman, Canada's leading football coach, Lloyd Douglas, Congress Baseball Commissioner, "Baby" Yack, once Canada's leading bantamweight contender, C.S.M. Herschell Osborne, one of the best known boxing referees in Canada, and Patsy Brandino, one of the leading lightweights in professional and army boxing.

Jerry Thompson, coach of Trail juniors, is a big husky gent who, while never much as a player himself, certainly knows how to get the best out of youngsters. While disappointed in the showing of his charges he paid tribute to eastern junior A hockey, but pointed out justifiably, we think, that many of the west's good juniors are playing in the east this season, and that New York Rangers, Buffalo and many other professional clubs had been made up of players of junior age, all from their hunting grounds in western Canada. The armed forces, too, had taken a heavy toll of players. He also intimated his boys were playing below par, and that the hard play-off series out west, and the change of climate might have something to do with it. Next season is a year he looks forward to.

Hi Lawrie, member of the well-known Markham hockey clan, has just returned to St. John, N.B., after spending furlough at his home. He played little hockey the past winter and is hoping to see action elsewhere this year. He has a reunion, the first in over a year, with brother Bob Lawrie, now a pilot officer with the R.C.A.F. Bob has been on the west coast the past year but is now in the process of being transferred to the ferry command with headquarters in eastern Canada.

Russell Welch, the red-thatched lad who was a wingman with Aurora juniors in 1938-39, when they won the junior C hockey championship, as we write this is still engaged at hockey. "Red" is a member of a commercial hockey team battling hard for the T.M.L. title. Since leaving the Aurora team, Welch has confined his hockey to playing with his own plant team.

Aurora tennis appears in the doubtful class right now. Keith Nisbet, Harold Pringle and some of the older members of the club called a meeting for last Friday night, and not a single person except the sponsors turned out. The majority of the tennis players of other days are on active service.

Sub-Lieut. Lees O'ram, Lieut. Stan Walker, Sgt. Keith Davis, as well as younger players of promise like Owen Richards, Nisbet and Pringle are both golfers now and intended in any case to spend most of their leisure moments on the green, but they were hoping some of the youngsters and casual players would be interested. We believe that the club has a small surplus on hand, too. Perhaps the military personnel at the Ordnance depot would be interested in a club this season. It seems too bad to see the Aurora courts sprout weeds.

Newmarket camp boxers, while not winning any titles in the intermediate district meet at Camp Borden, made a fine showing, considering how little time there was to train green boys. In the meet with Brampton, Newmarket took five out of the seven novice classes, and in the M.D. 2 finals at Toronto annexed three titles. Tpr. Jackie Rosenthal of Toronto won the novice lightweight, Eddie Winters, from Brantford, the novice featherweight, and Johnny Walker from Toronto, the novice light-heavyweight. This was almost equivalent to winning the district championship.

These three boys then represented the district in the inter-district meet, Rosenthal, suffering from an injured nose, lost the semi-final to Tpr. Hayden of No. 3 C.A.C.T.R., the ultimate winner. Winters was just barely nosed out in the class final, while Walker, after having the verdict in his mitts at the end of the second round, stopped a heavy clout from Hanson of M.D. 1, and lost on a T.K.O. R.S.M. "Paddy" Farrell and those who assisted him are to be congratulated for their fine showing. Farrell, in addition, was signally honored by being chosen as manager of the M.D. 2 team, and has gone on to Detroit to handle the six M.D. 2 winners, including Patsy Brandino. Farrell, aside from being in his day one of the best fencers, and gymnasts in the British and Canadian armies, was no mean slouch in the squared circle, although he competed in only regimental bouts. For four years with the famous Royal Borets unit, he held two championships at different weights. For two years it was featherweight and lightweight, and then when weight increased it was lightweight and welterweight. He still can give a good account of himself, and often takes time out to enter the ring personally and exchange a few pointers. Winters is an example. Here was a boy who after some years in the army had yet to box although always wishing to do so. After a few weeks at No. 23 he was encouraged to try his hand and, as results proved, is today one of the best boys in his class in Canada.

On the parade ground, or in the orderly room, it is, as might be expected, a different "Farrell" from the one who spars, coaches and solves the problems of his charges. The boys give 100 percent because they know he is behind them 100 percent, and that goes for more sports than boxing. Incidentally, "Paddy" represented Canada in the fencing at the Olympic games in Los Angeles. We will be surprised if M.D. 2 boys don't cop most of the bacon at the eastern Canada army championships.

Sgt. "Red" Garner of No. 2 District Depot, one of the best known amateur and semi-pro wrestlers, who hails from Richmond Hill, is one of the trainers and official seconds for the M.D. 2 entries. "Red" has things rolling at the Depot at top speed and always has a smile on his face, and a joke ready on a moment's notice.

Herbie Cain is employed with a war industries plant near Toronto these days and commutes back and forth daily. Herbie was rejected for active service last year because of a physical defect. If there is a hardball in Newmarket he can be depended upon to swing into action again. If not, he will keep in condition by pounding the golf pill over the Aurora course.

Les Beazer has the course in fine shape for so early in the year, and looks for a big season, with memberships booming, and new ideas for success crowding the Beazer brain. Experts from Toronto have been consulted regarding the greens and fairways and once the rains get in their work all will be well. The perfect weather of the week saw many of the old standbys present, although they used the greens sparingly. It would appear that more members from Newmarket than ever before will be in action this season.

Kenny Holmesshaw, for years a favorite referee in junior hockey in these parts, reached a pinnacle this winter when he was appointed to handle the Allan Cup finals between Quebec Aces and Port Arthur. Next year, it is said, he is a certainty to be appointed to the N.H.L. staff by "Red" Dutton. By the same token another old favorite, referee around Aurora, Normie Lamport, after five or six years in big-time, has likely whistled his last N.H.L. games, as the powers that be couldn't see eye to eye with him.

Softball surprise comes from Toronto, where the T.A.S.A. this year has issued the following edict: "All teams in junior, intermediate and senior series will be permitted to use gloves on all their infielders (pitcher included)."

This follows the American rules, we believe, but it is a far cry from other years. Are the boys a bunch of sissies? It is all right, you see, for the minor tennis to play as usual, with only the catcher and first-sacker with mitts. The extra gloves will be an added expense to the team too. We suppose if Toronto is adopting it, the rule is general throughout the province, and that's the way it will be played. One of the big thrills of softball was to see an infielder grab a liner or a hard throw barehanded. The gloves, however, will stop injured fingers and make the game more than ever a pitchers' battle when two good clubs meet.

Simcoe softballers are organizing for the season with old-timers like Earl Marshall, Ivan Gracey, Wes Perry, Freddy Norris and the Miles brothers from Midhurst as the sparkplugs. As yet it appears uncertain if any softball loops will operate in North York. Richmond Hill is going into Toronto to play.

Soccer grouping finds Newmarket camp in the second division, with Linton, Mimico, Beach, Lanecan-shires, Hagibords, Slavias, Slovaks, Research, Rooney's and Ady's, and unless the camp is weak they should top that crowd. Hagibord, in case you're wondering, is a Jewish club. According to ancient lore, Hagibord was one of the accursed warriors and athletes. Rooney's are sponsored by "Boss" Rooney.

Good news is the word that Bill Thomas is now able to be out and around after his lengthy illness. Bill took in some of the Oshawa-Trail games at Maple Leaf Gardens, about the only games he saw last winter since he stopped playing. The Newmarket boy has lost a lot of weight, something over 20 pounds, but will soon put on weight again now that he is able to be about. Before coming back to Canada he answered a call from the American draft board and was classified as 4-F, which is equivalent to a rejection slip in the Canadian army. His old pals, Art Jackson of Boston Bruins, and Bob Gracie of Pittsburgh Hornets, are both in the same category. Gracie, it will be recalled, played with Bill with West Toronto as a junior and also with Toronto Maple Leafs and by marriage is Thomas' brother-in-law. All three have the same complaint, stomach ulcers.

According to the doctors, Bill will be ready for action with the Chicago Black Hawks next winter. His loss was a serious one to Paul Thompson the past winter, as if he had been able there is no doubt the Black Hawks would have given Les Canadiens a tougher battle.

The Hawks have no complaints, however. Despite the fact they didn't win the title they did set a record for games in professional and amateur hockey. The Windy City boys played before 49,000 spectators in 29 games, or over 15,000 per game, the best gate attendance figures in hockey history, far surpassing that of Montreal and Tor-

SEES GERMAN PLANE CRASH ON LONDON

Mrs. Wm. Collins, Newmarket, has received an interesting letter from a daughter in England.

"This old war is beginning to tell on us now," she writes. "I do hope and trust we won't have much longer to suffer. The happiest day of my life will be the day the war is over."

"I expect it is all right for me to tell you all about the Jerry that crashed, as it has been in all the papers. You know the Jerries were in a raid over London and that special one got hit. All the crew baled out and the empty plane flew all the way from London to here, where it crashed."

"Not a soul was hurt. They captured the Jerry airmen miles away. We were all standing out in the street, as the siren had gone and it was our night fire watching. Two seconds after the plane passed us it crashed."

Now is the time to go through the attic or cellar for articles which someone else needs.

Bus travel used to be fun. But, like many things we always enjoyed in plenty, bus service is pretty scarce now for ordinary every-day travellers. Many of the buses that used to serve you are busy on vital war jobs. Buses and tires and gasoline must be saved for these jobs—so your bus service has been reduced. In some districts it has been discontinued. Your cooperation is helping the bus services do their part in hastening Victory. Then, bus travel will be more fun than ever before, with plenty of thrills and surprises in the smart new models Gray Coach Lines is planning for you.

by the transmission of a large portion of the letter mails from Canada to the United Kingdom by air. Unfortunately, the aircraft which we had hoped would be available did not materialize due to the prior demands of machines for combat purposes.

"On Oct. 7 a meeting took place between the minister of national defence, the minister for air and myself, together with representatives of the post office department and the Canadian armed forces postal services.

"As a result of personal representations made by the minister of national defence for air, six Fortress aircraft were obtained from the United States to be utilized for the transportation of mails for the forces. These machines were not new but had been used in varying degrees for operation and training purposes.

"A Royal Canadian Air Force squadron was created to operate the mail service from Canada to the United Kingdom and on to the Mediterranean area, and return.

"I should like to make it clear at this point that this service was supplementary to the facilities which existed, and despite delays which have occurred the fact emerges that this Canadian air service has carried to the United Kingdom and the Mediterranean theatre, and return, thousands of pounds of letters which would otherwise have been dispatched by surface ships.

"So that you will have some idea of the reasons for the delays which have occurred and the average times which it takes to handle and transport mails from Canada to the overseas forces under present conditions, I am going to place on record data taken from actual mail service operations from Canada to the United Kingdom and the Mediterranean theatre. Similar times and conditions also apply to mails moving westbound.

"Airgraphs and armed forces air letters Canada to United Kingdom.

Date of mailing 1st day

Handling and sortation into unit packages at base P.O. 3rd day

"TENDER COMRADE" PLAYS NEXT WEEK

Serious-minded Robert Ryan reads, while Ginger Rogers' peppery temper mounts in a scene from "Tender Comrade." Unaware of the pending separation, Ginger craves gaiety. of the R.A.F. transport command. In a westerly direction they are carried by the Trans-Canada Air Lines or by the aircraft of the R.C.A.F. transport command. Occasionally these items have been carried for us by planes of the United States transport command.

"An idea of the frequency of this service eastbound can be gathered from the fact that 12 crossings were made in November, nine in December and ten in January, which averages a crossing every three days.

"The transit time from the base post office until the mails arrive in the United Kingdom varies from three to ten days. Generally speaking, an armed forces air letter mailed in Canada is delivered to the addressee in the United Kingdom in anywhere between six to 15 days after posting. There have been occasions when letters have been delivered in a shorter time. There are also cases where they have taken longer, but this is usually due to the fact that the items had to be redirected before delivery could be effected.

"The number of armed forces air letters carried across the Atlantic has now reached one and a half million per month.

"Airgraphs normally take four or five days longer due to photographing in Canada before dispatch and the reproduction of the message in the United Kingdom on arrival. Occasionally the time taken is longer when the arrival in the United Kingdom coincides with a heavy volume of airgraphs received from the British forces overseas which occasionally number several million.

"Letters for personnel in the R.C.A.F. cannot be delivered to units in the same way as letters for army units. This is due to the frequent changes in location of squadrons and individuals. It has been found by experience that in most cases delays are reduced if items are first passed through the R.C.A.F. postal records.

"I wish to deal now, as I said, with airgraphs and armed forces air letters to the Mediterranean. Eastbound they are dispatched by R.A.F. transport command aircraft to the United Kingdom, thence by the Royal Canadian Air Force, the Royal Air Force or United States aircraft, or any other on which space to the Mediterranean theatre can be obtained.

"The average time of an air letter from Canada to the airport in the United Kingdom is seven days. The average wait for aircraft space in the United Kingdom is eight days, bringing us to the 15th day. Delays on account of weather have averaged four days, making it the 19th day. Transit time from the United Kingdom to the Mediterranean theatre averages two days, making it the 21st day. Arrival at airport, sortation and road transport to base take two days, bringing it to the 23rd day. Air transport to formation postal unit and arrival at unit for delivery bring it to the 24th day. Airgraphs would take approximately four to six days longer, on account of the processing at both ends of the journey, which would make it the 30th day.

"Next I should like to deal with surface letters to the Canadian forces in the United Kingdom. The average transit time is as follows:

"Example—Letter mailed in central Canada to member of Canadian armed forces in United Kingdom.

Letter posted and sorted in local post office and dispatched by rail to base post office 1st day

Arrival at base post office, Ottawa 4th day

Sorted and prepared for dispatch 5th day

Average time waiting for space on transport (five days) 10th day

Railway transport to port of loading (two days) 12th day

Loading on steamer and awaiting departure (three days) 15th day

Transatlantic crossing, fast ship—no convoy, or fast convoy (average ten days) 25th day air letters are for the present carried eastbound by the planes Docking, unloading and in mail cars at port in United Kingdom (two days) 27th day

Rail transit to Canadian postal corps railhead, sortation and dispatch 28th day

To unit railhead, thence to unit supply point 29th day

Arrival at unit for delivery 30th day

"During the calendar year 1943, 661,904 pounds of letters were dispatched overseas. This amounts to approximately 31,500,000 items. With a few exceptions, due to causes beyond our control, practically all of these letters have been delivered to the addressees. True, delays have occurred. Time has been taken up by redirections, and no doubt occasional errors have been made in individual cases but the percentage of correspondence undeliverable is a very small portion of one percent.

"Most of the surface letters have been transported by surface ships but 30,000 pounds of surface letters have been carried by planes operated by the R.C.A.F. or Trans-Canada Air Lines. This has expedited delivery by anywhere from two or three days to two weeks. These letters have been carried by air although prepaid for surface transport.

"The transit times which I gave are for normal crossings. Occasions have arisen when ships have had to put back to port. Sometimes the same ship has returned more than once and the time required is increased accordingly.

"The next matter I should like to deal with is the surface letters to Canadian forces overseas in the Mediterranean area. The example is as follows:

"Average transit time of letters mailed in central Canada addressed to member of unit of Canadian forces in Mediterranean theatre. Time elapsed between posting in Canada and arrival at Canadian postal corps railhead in United Kingdom—28 days

Checking, sortation and rebagging at Canadian overseas postal depot 29th day

Waiting space on steamer to Mediterranean area (five days) 34th day

Dispatch to port in United Kingdom, loading on steamer (two days) 36th day

Ship awaiting make-up of convoy for Mediterranean (six days) 42nd day

Average time fast convoy to Mediterranean area (ten days) 52nd day

Waiting at port of arrival and unloading (three days) 55th day

From port to Canadian base post office serving units (two days) 57th day

Road transport to formation postal unit 58th day

Arrival at unit for delivery 59th day

"Many parcels are received which are inadequately addressed. This is sometimes due to misreading of the written address when the address label is typed. Search after search is made through records in an endeavour to locate the correct addressee.

"When a parcel finally fails of delivery it is turned over to the auxiliary services of the Canadian armed forces for distribution generally to Canadian armed forces personnel. In all cases where this action is taken a letter, is sent to the sender advising him of the treatment given to the parcel.

"A number of societies and auxiliaries in Canada are using obsolete lists. These lists contain names of men who have never left Canada. This creates a voidable searches through records and indirectly delays the handling of parcels to persons who are overseas.

Mr. Mulock gave the detailed transit of a cigarette parcel to the United Kingdom, totalling 60 days for normal crossings. A parcel to the Mediterranean takes 90 days for delivery to unit. A tobacco parcel would take 14 days longer, which is the time taken by the tobacco company to fill orders.

"The majority of complainants, as honorable members will have gathered from the particulars of the actual elapsed times required for the various classes of mail, have not allowed sufficient time for their letters or parcels to be delivered and for an acknowledgment to be received," said Mr. Mulock.

"The postal service, civil and

CHRISTADELPHIANS
When Christ returns to the earth, He will reward the faithful and obedient with eternal life. Then this mortal will put on immortality, and with him begin the work of producing "new order" any more. All nations will be united in right, obedient to the law proclaimed from Zion, but judgment must first come to purify an ungodly world. ROCK GARDENS

(By Rudy Kenzies, Newmarket Horticultural Society)

For many years now rock gardens have been getting more popular with amateur gardeners. And for some good reasons. You can make your gardening experiences as difficult as you like or as simple as you care to make them.

There are thousands of alpine and suitable dwarf perennials available. Some of them are easy to grow and will thrive anywhere, others want special soil and other conditions. If you are interested in having your rock gardens look fine in winter time too there is a great selection of dwarf needle-trees and dwarf broadleaf evergreens.

You do not have to own a large garden to have a rock garden. In fact, most rock gardens are small and usually built on slopes that were too difficult to mow with a lawn mower. The idea is to build a garden with rocks, a home for alpine (as rock garden plants are called) approaching as closely as possible their natural living and growing conditions, that is, the side of a mountain or a rocky meadow.

Be sure you have ample drainage. As a rule alpine love the sun, although there are a great many alpine that thrive in half or full shade. It is best to get a catalogue from a specialist in rock plants (we have at least one in Ontario) and from this get all information as to the conditions the plants grow best in.

Do not build up a mountain of dirt and then put stones on it haphazardly, as rains on a hill. Build up the rocky stone by stone. Each stone should be partly dug into the ground sloping back, so that rain-water runs back where your plants are located. Set the stones solidly enough to walk on. A good soil for alpine in general consists of equal parts ordinary top soil, rotted loam and sharp sand. Do not use fresh manure.

If you can get flat limestone, do, but any rocks or broken up cement sidewalks will do. Always bury the widest side of the rock in the ground. Have lots of earth behind as some alpine roots go back two to three feet. Set each plant behind the rock in the dirt pocket above the rock. Now you can see the reason for sloping rock to let rain drain back to plants. The roots grow under the rocks where there is lots of moisture. (Another article on Rock Gardens will appear in an early issue.)

HEALTH SERVICE COSTS 42 CENTS PER PERSON

(Bowmanville Statesman)

The board of health report for 1943 as prepared by medical officer of health, Dr. W. H. Birks, has been presented to the board, members of which are, chairman, Mayor C. G. Morris, together with Councillors R. J. Dilling and Secretary A. J. Lyle. The report may be summarized as follows:

There were no deaths from contagious disease in 1943. Although a flu epidemic prevailed during the last two months it was of mild type. Since no cases were reported to the secretary the number affected cannot be determined. There were 84 cases of measles and 22 of mumps and only ten cases of scarlet fever and no diphtheria.

There were no cases of diphtheria, making nine years in succession without a single case. Regular immunization programs against diphtheria and scarlet fever have been carried out with better cooperation from parents. Fine operations of the medical profession have helped these good results, especially in preventing whooping cough. Water and milk used by citizens have been good and no cases of disease can be traced to these nor to food sold in restaurants.

Statistics of the report are very revealing in many respects. The town population has fallen from 3,884 in 1942 to 3,800 in 1943, but live births registered have increased from 179 to 200 respectively. In 1939 there were 141. Births among town residents were 85 in 1942 and 90 in 1943, a percentage of only 23.68 of the total for the latter year. Non-resident births, therefore, represent 76.32 percent. There were 42 marriages in 1943 or 11 per 1,000 population.

Deaths of residents in 1942 were 32 and in 1943 they rose to 48. Main causes of deaths were 53.5 percent among older people and 12.7 from cancer among those past middle life. Pneumonia took 5.7 percent, accidents 2.8 percent and tuberculosis, only 1.3 percent. From all other causes, 24 percent. There were ten deaths of infants under one year, only four from town. There were no maternal deaths.

Total revenue from all sources was $1,613.95, all spent at a per capita of only 42 cents. Total attendance at baby clinics was 132. The Lions club supplied glasses to six, mostly children with poor vision. The Rotary club paid expenses for 12 children to have their tonsils out.

Water supply samples were tested 11 times during the year, all free of contamination. Of three samples from private wells, one was contaminated. The town's milk supply averaged 1,725 quarts per day or 9-10 pints per head. There are three distributors and 18

SERVING AURORA AND DISTRICT

YORK BOY IS FIRST ONTARIO PRESIDENT

Realizing the need for a provincial organization of Junior Farmers in Ontario, delegates from the 20 counties in which Junior Farmer clubs are operating met in conference in Toronto recently and after a thorough discussion elected a board of directors representing the various districts of the province. The officers elected by the board are: president, Gordon Orr, Maple; vice-president, Howard Laidlaw, Norval; sec.-treas., A. H. Martin, department of agriculture, Toronto; and executive committee, Warne Emmott and Charlotte McCullough. Gordon Orr has for the past two years been president of the Vellore club and also of the York County Junior Farmers and is being congratulated on bringing the honor of the first presidency to York county, where Junior Farmer work has thrived for 30 years.

"In March, 1914, three clubs were organized in Durham, Peel and York counties following agricultural short courses," stated R. S. Duncan, assistant deputy minister of agriculture, who addressed the meeting. At that time Mr. Duncan was agricultural representative in Durham. For J. C. Stachley, now director of the Ridgeway experimental station, was "rep." in York and W. H. J. Tisdale, now assistant general manager of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, was "rep." in Peel.

Later that year a club was formed in Middlesex under the direction of the representative, I. B. Whaley, now manager of Weldwood Farm and associate editor of the Farmer's Advocate.

When the air training school at the O.A.C. Guelph, is closed and the college gets back to normal the Juniors are hoping to hold their annual meeting in the form of a conference there. In the meantime it is gratifying to note that there is an increased interest in this junior work and that a number of new clubs are being organized in the province.

Recently there was a new club organized by a group of 13 in the township of Georgina to be known as the Virginia Junior Farmers, the young folks having met on their own initiative at the home of Cecil Smith.

Since the outbreak of war the clubs of Ontario have raised over $10,000 for their War Services Fund, the York county Juniors contributing over $3,100 of this amount. They have also set an objective of 500 Junior Farmer blood donors to back up the large number of their boys and girls who are in the various services.

During the day's deliberations Premier George A. Drew on behalf of the Junior Farmers presented cheques totalling $2,525 to three war service organizations, Navy League of Canada, Canadian Red Cross Society and the Salvation Army.

Dr. G. I. Christie, president of the Ontario Agricultural College, and Miss Mary Clark, superintendent of Women's Institutes, Toronto, also addressed the young people.

BOYS WILL BE GLAD TO GET HOME AGAIN

The Mount Albert Veterans Association has received cards from some of the boys overseas acknowledging cigarettes.

"Lately the mail has been coming through poorly," writes Gnr. B. G. Harrison. "Keep up the good work back home and we will do our best over here." "We will do all we can to keep the fighting spirit that our fathers did in the last war," writes Tpr. H. Bullock. "Hope to see you all in Mount Albert soon."

"You are sure doing your part in helping us out and we are trying to do ours," writes Pte. Elmer K. Rose. "We have been having fairly good time here but will sure be glad to get back to Canada."

producers. One distributor gets milk pasteurized at Oshawa Pure Milk Co. Tests of all milk showed a higher standard of cream content than is required by regulations.

High school pupils were tuberculin tested and all showing positive reaction were x-rayed but none showed active tuberculosis. Immunization against scarlet fever and diphtheria was done at schools and pre-school children were brought to these clinics. All were Dick and Schick tested and none giving positive reaction were immunized. The total program provides no service for Dental Hygiene.

Total enrolment in elementary schools was 585 and 266 visits by public health nurse were made to these children and all defects found were reported and many treatments made. Health service for secondary schools was three hours per week. Two former school year have special physical inspection by nurse only. T.B. test is made yearly by M.O.H., assisted by public health nurse. Red Cross nursing class is conducted by public health nurse. In all, 182 families, representing 267 individuals, received service during the year with 561 nurse's visits.

Sanitary services included visits to all restaurants every three months. Meat inspection now is done by the wartime prices and trade board. The M.O.H. inspects all slaughter houses every four months. One swimming-pool gets inspection, the water grade A. Attached to the report is a summary of the activities of Sanitary Inspector S. Venton, who sent 21 samples of milk and cream to the provincial laboratories for inspection and who disposed of 17 stray or injured cats and dogs. He had only 16 complaints during the year.

What it means to wear this emblem!

When you listen to news of what our boys are going through overseas... and read the casualty lists in your newspaper every day... and measure the sorrow and anxiety that have come to thousands of Canadian homes... and may come to many more... Are you satisfied that you are doing ALL YOU CAN?
Our men and women in uniform are ready, if need be, to die for Canada, for Freedom, for YOU.

Compared with that, no amount of self-denial is too great. Are you prepared to put EVERY SINGLE DOLLAR YOU CAN SAVE into Victory bonds? Into bonds that will assure a steady flow of vital supplies to bring Victory closer? That's what YOU can do to help shorten the war, to save precious lives. And that's what the wearing of this emblem means—that you too are doing your share... that you are buying all the Victory Bonds you can!

THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER COMMISSION OF ONTARIO

MAGISTRATE'S COURT

Boys Break into Two Homes, Take Liquor

Four Aurora youths 17, 18, 19 and 25 years of age, pleaded guilty in York county magistrate's court, Newmarket, on Tuesday to a joint charge of breaking and entering the summer residence of John B. Hawthorne, Lot 35, Con. 1, Whitechurch township, on April 17 and stealing a number of articles.

These included a portable phonograph, an electric toaster, electric iron, a quantity of canned goods, a quantity of bottled beverages and certain other household goods, the total value of which was estimated at about $300. Magistrate K. M. Lingdon ordered that the goods be returned to the owner and remanded the youths in custody one week for judgment.

His worship found three of the youths guilty on a further charge, breaking and entering the premises of Major James Baxter, Snowball, and stealing a number of articles valued at $200. The articles stolen in this instance were a 12-gauge shot-gun, a 22 calibre rifle, four boxes of 12-gauge shells, six boxes of .22 calibre shells, a steamer trunk and a quantity of clothing. Magistrate Lingdon remanded the three boys one week for judgment and ordered the articles in question returned to the owner.

Giving evidence in the first charge, County Constable Aubrey Fleury, Aurora, testified that he had received a telephone call on April 19 from Mr. Hawthorne that his residence, which is a mile and a quarter south of Aurora, had been broken into. The officer stated that upon investigation he and Chief Fisher Dunham, Aurora, found that a cellar windowpane had been broken. Entrance by this means had been blocked by an iron bar behind the window. Further investigation proved that entrance had finally been made by smashing a small window in a door and turning the lock from the inside.

The witness went on to say that he received a list of the stolen articles from Mr. Hawthorne and that during his investigation went to the home of one of the boys charged and found a number of stolen articles, including a pillow case, a hamper, ash-can and toaster. He stated that the defendant admitted entering the Hawthorne home and stealing the articles.

Questioned by Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong, the officer stated that the boy told him that one of them had smashed the door window in order to gain entrance. He questioned the four boys and they admitted breaking into the Hawthorne house twice. The first time they stole some liquor.

Called to the stand J. D. Hawthorne told his worship that he had identified the articles as belonging to him. Giving evidence in the second charge, Constable Fleury stated that during the investigation he found that the Baxter house had been broken into on the same night as the Hawthorne house. In this instance the defendants had gained entrance by smashing a window and window-sill. He stated that upon investigation he and Chief Fisher Dunham found the 22 calibre rifle in a closet of one of the boys' homes.

The witness went on to say that Major Baxter's premises had been broken into twice by the defendants. On the first occasion they stole some liquor. Called to the stand, Major Baxter identified the rifle exhibited as belonging to him as well as the other articles produced. Magistrate Lingdon commented on the excellent work done by Constables Fleury and Dunham in this investigation. Major Baxter and Mr. Hawthorne expressed their thanks.

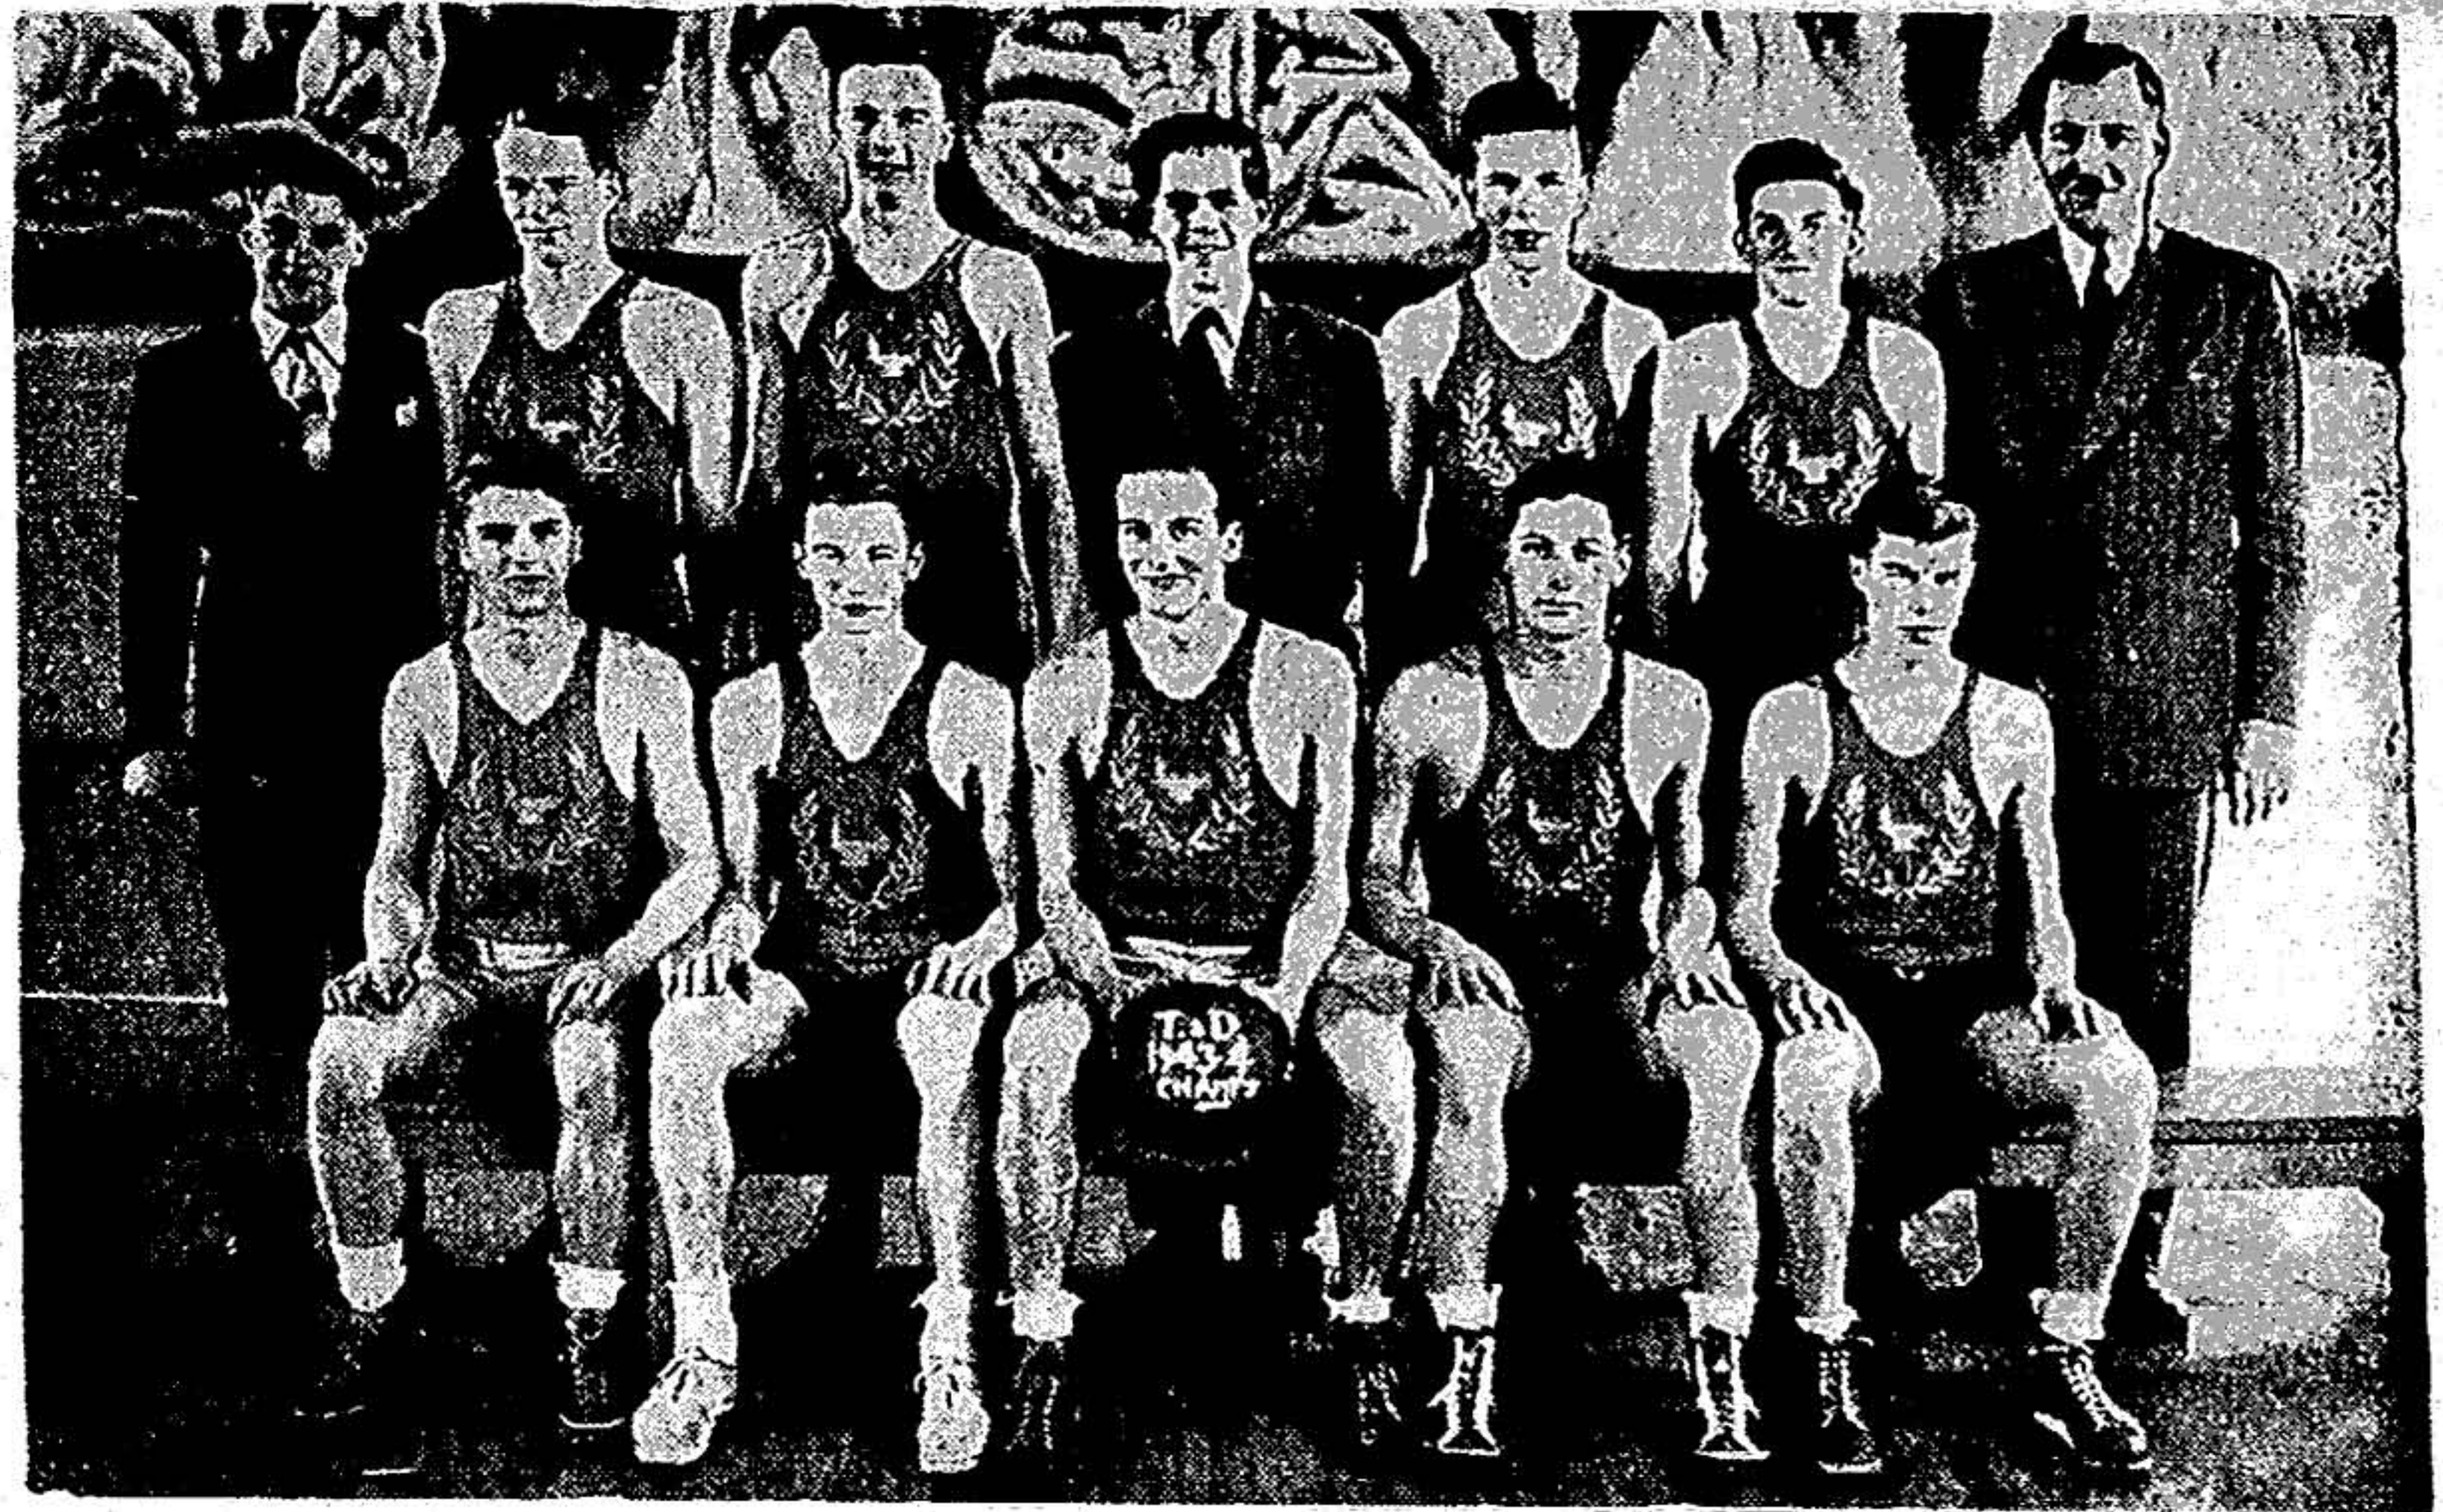

"There is no question but that the books are obscene but there is doubt in my mind as to your distributing them, as is laid down in this charge, and I am dismissing the charge against you. However the books will be confiscated." This was the verdict handed down by Magistrate Lingdon after hearing evidence in the case of Walter Steele, Fairlawn Ave., Toronto, who was charged with distributing two books of obscene pictures.

The defendant pleaded not guilty to the charge, explaining that although he was the owner of the books in question he was not selling them or passing them around to others, with the intention of corrupting their morals.

Charles Cowieson, Island Grove, testified that he had asked Mr. Steele for the books and had passed them on to another party to sell. He was not distributing the books nor did he receive any impression from the defendant that they were to be distributed.

Found guilty on a charge of having in his possession three muskrats and not having a license as is required under section 16 of the Game and Fisheries Act, John Chappelle, Baldwin, was fined $10 and costs.

Found guilty of illegal parking in Newmarket, Joseph Coates, Holt, John Kanyo, Bradford, Hillary McCarroll, Schomberg, Arthur P. Russell, R. R. 2,

BE SURE TO COME

WHAT OTHERS THINK

A SCANDALOUS LIQUOR BILL

(Toronto Globe and Mail)

The latest official figures on the national consumption of liquor since the war began are material for a severe moral indictment of the Canadian people. The rise in this consumption has been progressive throughout the war years. As compared with 1939, the total amounts of spirits, malt liquors (including beer) and wine purchased by the public in 1943 had increased by 40, 50 and 30 percent respectively. There is a further estimate that Canada's liquor bill in terms of money mounted last year to $250,000,000 from a pre-war figure of $153,000,000. But this spread of over 63 percent is partially accounted for by the sharp rise in the taxes on all kinds of drink.

An expenditure of $21 per capita is a scandalously high scale of liquor consumption even in peace, and it is more deplorable in war-time. The reasons for it are not hard to seek. For one thing, large numbers of our people have been enjoying their highest earnings for many a long day. Despite the heavy taxation, they have more money to spend after the daily necessities of life have been provided for. Many kinds of luxury goods on which they might have spent these funds are now unobtainable, but one type of luxury, liquor, is still available, and so it is bought freely. Again, the general emotional upheaval which war inevitably brings makes thousands of people turn to liquor as an anodyne for frayed or shattered nerves. For many it has become an escape, and they use it as a narcotic rather than a social lubricant.

But these are excuses, and no adequate defence for our inordinately large liquor bill. The figures are astounding, and one does not need to be a prohibitionist to be gravely shocked by them. In the years when the treasury is hard pressed to finance the national war effort and a variety of beneficent organizations working for the welfare of our fighting men are urgently in need of funds, the Canadian people have seen fit to spend $25,000,000 per annum for artificial stimulation through alcohol. There is not much sign here of the self-denial to which millions of Canadians vowed themselves for the winning of the war.

During the last war King George V set a fine example of self-discipline by banning the consumption of alcohol in the royal household till victory came. It was followed far and wide throughout the Commonwealth. But in this war millions of Canadians have refused to impose any self-restraint upon their appetite for liquor. This widespread attitude argues a weakness in moral stamina which is strangely out of keeping with the valiant physical courage of our youth, and it must be counted a discredit to our civilian population. This newspaper has no belief that social habits can be regulated effectively by prohibitive or sumptuary laws. It believes that only an awakening of the national conscience and a new spirit of self-discipline in this most critical year of the war will bring our national liquor bill within decent bounds.

possible reaction.

There is also another method of doing this test known as the "patch test." This material is not supplied free by the department and it is sometimes difficult to determine between the positive and negative reaction. This test is not advocated by the department of tuberculosis prevention and has been very little used, though the results of each are fairly comparable.

"WRITE" AND "APPLY"

When advertisers use an Era and Express box but ask that The Era and Express give particulars to inquirers, the advertisement uses the words, "Apply Era and Express box etc." To secure particulars inquirer must leave his name and address. When advertisers use a box and have not asked that information be given out, the particulars remain confidential and the advertisement uses the words, "Write Era and Express box etc."

While good results are often obtained by using a box number, even better results are obtained when the advertiser gives his name, address and telephone number in the advertisement.

Many people will answer such an advertisement who will not take the time to write a letter.

For the same reason The Era and Express will place the name and address of any interested person in the box of an advertiser who requires written replies. That is a letter which says to the advertiser in effect: "I am interested but you will have to get in touch with me for particulars, for I haven't time to write you. Or maybe I haven't any stationery handy!"
